

Our City
comment & discussion
by
THOMAS D. WATSON

THE voters of Glendale emphatically registered their desires in yesterday's election. There was nothing left in doubt. First, they elected for councilmen two men who had never before held any political office—men who were not very well known, but who had clean records—records of achievement and a purpose of service.

ASA HALL received the largest vote. On account of his experience he will prove a valuable addition to our city council. Fourteen years of service as head bookkeeper in the Los Angeles city auditor's office has given him very valuable knowledge of tax matters, which will be of untold value to Glendale.

W. A. HORN, the other winning candidate, is peculiarly equipped to make a good councilman. He has had a long successful business career, is a man of strong personality and is alive to the needs of Glendale. There will be no vacillating tactics in the council with these two men as members, nor will snap judgment be used on important matters. The citizens of Glendale are to be congratulated over the election of these two men, and they can rest assured that both will give honest endeavor backed with good business judgment.

THE proposed charter amendments struck a rocky road, all but two going down to defeat. The two that passed were Nos. 5 and 6. No. 5 is for the purpose of providing lawful authority to fill vacancies in elective offices. No. 6 makes it possible for any qualified voter to be eligible for appointment as city attorney. We are of the opinion that both of these amendments will prove beneficial in the city administration.

PROPOSITION No. 7 carried by a large vote, as it should. This proposition was to give the council authority to sell a plot of ground for a nominal amount to the American Legion for ground on which to erect a home for the local post. By this vote we have told them that they are still "our boys," even if the war is over.

PROPOSITION No. 8, which was known as the Airport Proposition was also defeated. Whether or not this piece of ground will be purchased by the city will now be decided by the judges. The case comes up for hearing on next Friday.

PROPOSITION No. 1 on the special ballot carried. This instructs that the cost of lighting and maintaining all of the ornamental street lighting fixtures in the city be paid for from the general taxation of the city.

WHILE we do not care to take undue credit for the results, we are gratified, for we scored a clean hit.

We hope our readers will appreciate that the purpose of this column is only to help push our city forward, and while at times we may have been a little over critical, it was only in a spirit of constructive criticism. We do pledge the column to work for the best interests of the majority of our citizens and will never use it in a way of personal gain to either ourselves or any individual.

PARIS, April 11.—Greece has irrevocably decided not to pay a farthing of indemnity to Turkey, declared M. Alexandris, foreign minister of Greece, in an interview here today.

HALL AND HORN SWEEP POLLS IN VICTORY

HIGH CORNER STONE TO BE SET TODAY

Ceremony of Historic Importance to Be Held at 2:30 Today

MOORE TO OFFICIATE

Representative Educators to Attend Function of City's New Plant

The weather man evidently approves the new Glendale high school for he has held up the storm and promises a gorgeous afternoon for the laying of the cornerstone of the new plant, a ceremony of tremendous historical importance, at 2:30 today.

Behind this cornerstone will be history in the form of contributions which will be made to the big box that will be sealed within the stone and mortar of the wall which will be very interesting reading if it ever sees the light of day centuries hence. To it every class that has been graduated, and the classes now in attendance will contribute.

The ceremony of laying the stone is to be performed by Dr. E. C. Moore, director of the University of California, Southern Branch, that institution that beckons every Glendale graduate to "come up higher."

The principal address of the day will be made by Dr. Moore, but there will also be addresses worthy the occasion by men no less interested, Mark Keppel, superintendent of the schools of Los Angeles county, and A. C. Olney, commissioner of Secondary Education for the state.

The high school band and the glee club will have a part in the program. Rev. Clifford Cole will offer the invocation, and the opening address will be made by the president of the board of trustees, Thomas D. Watson.

He will be followed by representatives of educational institutions of Southern California, and of civic organizations of the city. A great event will be worthily observed.

FREDERICK WARDE

REVIEWS LONG CAREER

Tuesday Afternoon Club Entertained With Story of Classic Stage

Despite the showery day a most appreciative audience filled the auditorium of the Tuesday Afternoon Club and thoroughly enjoyed the reminiscences of the veteran actor, Frederick Warde, who complimented the club on its beautiful club home and on having as a member his old friend, Mrs. Charles Toll, president-elect of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's Clubs.

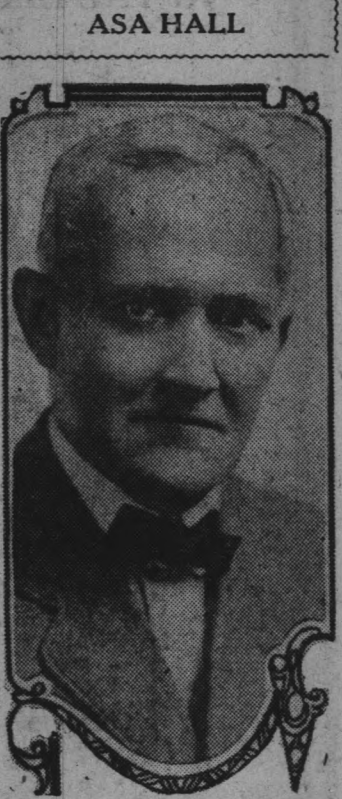

He told of the celebration by himself and Mrs. Warde of their 51st wedding anniversary, and of the manner in which he became enamored of the stage, with the amusing tale of his initiation as an actor with spoken lines as the second murderer in Macbeth. At that time his salary was 15 shillings or about $2.70 a week. He described the "green room," a sort of reception parlor where actors awaited their cues and received their friends, a feature of the stage that has disappeared.

In those days the stage was recruited by young people absolutely untrained and the stage itself was their school. Between rehearsals they were instructed in social usages, how to walk, sit and comport themselves, how to dance and sing and use the fella.

Seven years of experience he had in Great Britain and during that period played in a cast with Henry Irving, as unknown to him then as was Warde. He described a hike they took together and their lunch-eaten with hunger at a way-side inn which always lingered in their memories and of which they reminded each other when, thirty-seven years afterwards, Irving gave a dinner for Warde to which many stage luminaries were invited.

He told of his meeting with McCullough, whose Brutus he considered wonderfully fine, declaring also that the speech of Brutus is the most perfect piece of oratory he has ever seen.

FINE PROGRAM MARKS COMMUNITY SING AT HIGH

Fine Numbers Rendered by High School Orchestra and Soloists

A splendid program was carried out at the community sing at the high school, conducted last night by Community Service. Mr. A. L. Dair, chairman of the Music committee, had charge of the meeting.

Three fine numbers were rendered by the high school orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Dora Gibbons. This was followed by community singing led by Mrs. W. Q. Widdows, accompanied by the high school orchestra. A violin duet was next by Dorothy Watson and Marjorie Bailey, accompanied by Doris Moyse.

Mrs. John W. Cotton sang two solos which were especially well received. Mr. J. A. Myers, a tenor singer who has settled in Glendale, sang two solos. This was followed by community singing again under the direction of Mrs. W. Q. Widdows, with Mrs. Gertrude Champlain Erb at the piano. Old folk songs and late popular songs were on the program.

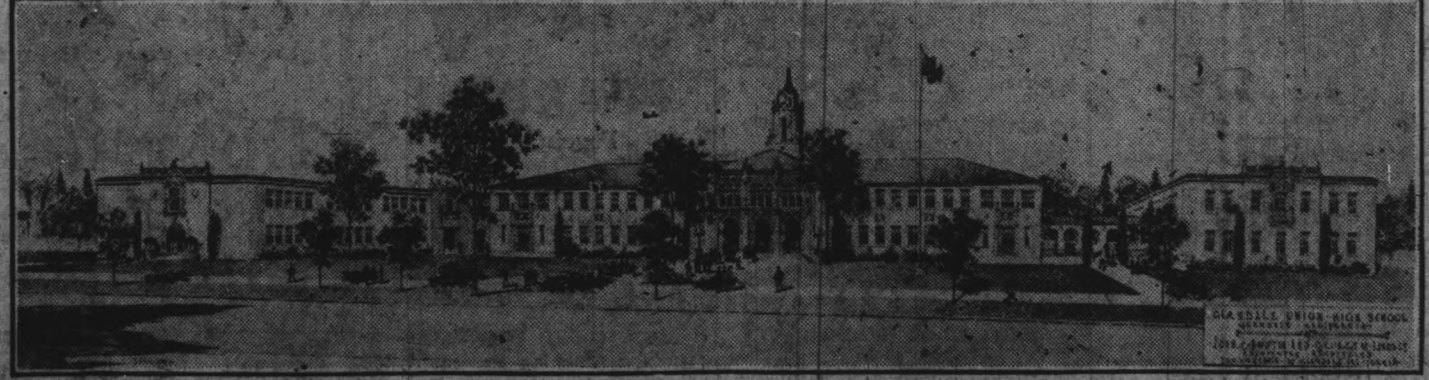

The meeting adjourned at 9:20 with the next community sing set for Monday evening, April 23.

GOODBYE BANQUET TO FR. O'NEILL IS POPULAR

Reservations Are Pouring Into the Committee Today

Reservations for the big public banquet in honor of Rev. Father O'Neill, founder of the Holy Family church, who is taking leave of Glendale, have been pouring in to the committee of arrangements all day. The seating capacity of the banquet to take place at the Tuesday Afternoon Club is limited to 350. The public reception which will follow the banquet will be open to the entire public as well as to those who are unable to make reservations.

The New High School Plant Which Receives Its Corner Stone Today

This beautiful high school, the cornerstone of which is being laid today, is costing the district $600,000, the bonds having been voted May 2, 1922.

John C. Austin, of Los Angeles, assisted by George Lindsay, of Glendale, were the designing architects, and the ground breaking exercises were held February 5, 1923. The North Pacific Construction company, of which George Mitty is the head, secured the general contract with a promise that it would be ready for use in September, 1923.

NEW COUNCILMEN PLEDGE FAITH AND SERVICES TO THE PEOPLE OF GLENDAL

Asa Hall and W. A. Horn Reiterate Promises Made During Campaign for the Full Performance of All Duties in the Light of Publicity

"I WILL GIVE THE BEST SERVICE THAT I AM CAPABLE OF TO THE CITY"

By ASA HALL

"I cannot truthfully say that my election was a surprise for when I consented to be a candidate I did so with the hope and expectation of securing the office, as does every aspirant, but the big vote cast for me was a most gratifying surprise and stimulates me to justify such confidence and give me the best I have to the service of Glendale.

"I have been a Glendale taxpayer for 12 years and have watched the growth of the city with admiration. It is, I believe, destined to be one of the great municipalities of California. It has problems to be solved, what city has not? There is the sewer problem, most pressing, but I am ready to give to it with the help of my colleagues on the council, every ounce of intelligence I possess and with their help I believe it can be met in a manner satisfactory to every inhabitant. It must be met if the city is to maintain its present splendid pace. All that I have learned as a student of municipal administration, will be at your disposal.

"I believe the finances of a great and growing town must be rigidly watched. There must be economy of the sort that will give the people what they pay for, and there must be a careful accounting of every dollar of the taxpayers' money. Having been an accountant in the office of the Los Angeles auditor for 14 years, I feel at home in that department of work. I do not wish to be understood, however, as favoring a parsimonious policy that would cripple the advance of the municipality. Glendale is destined to be a big city and we must look at things in a big way, though with due regard to the wishes of its citizenship, whose servants we are.

"I feel more highly honored than ever before in my career by this vote of confidence from my fellow citizens, and as I have said, I will endeavor to deserve it."

"I BELIEVE IN FULL PUBLICITY IN ALL AFFAIRS OF THE CITY COUNCIL"

By W. A. HORN

"The big vote which was cast for me, overwhelming my greatest expectations, I believe was given in support of the personal expressions during the campaign, in which I aligned myself for full publicity to all actions of the city council bearing city business, expenditures of money of the city. While I am councilman any proposition that comes before the body by which five men shall decide upon the expenditures of city funds without a vote of the people will meet with my consistent reiterated opposition and publicity of the fact that I am in opposition.

"I will support the expression of the people as expressed at the polls yesterday, and I know that the people who went to the polls yesterday and filed a record vote will support me in this, my honest effort, to see that every dollar earns a dollar's value when expended by the city for the city and the citizens thereof.

"Mr. Hall, I believe, and myself, will form a consistent public representation of the public sentiment on all public questions that come before the city council during our term of office.

"I believe that you will find us both open and anxious to receive constructive criticism and suggestions as to the manner in which the affairs of our city shall be directed. We shall appreciate the continued support and co-operation of all who are interested in our public affairs.

"I want to express my hearty thanks to all those who had any share in my election and for the confidence manifested and I shall try to merit the same."

PROGRAM CLOCK CONTRACT IS AWARDED

At the meeting of high school trustees held Tuesday evening, the contract for a system of program clocks was awarded to the Los Angeles representatives of the International Time Recording company of New York, at a figure approximating $4450. This was not the lowest bid, one having been received for $1000 less, another for $1000 more, but the award was the result of careful investigation into the relative merits of the different systems. The one selected has been adopted by Oakland, Cal., as its standard. It is being adopted for new schools in San Francisco, and very favorable reports were received from those cities, from Petaluma and China where it has been installed.

The board discussed informally the situation created by the annexation of Eagle Rock to Los Angeles but no action was necessary.

Present as an interested listener, was Albert D. Pearce, trustee-elect, who will assume his office in May.

OVERWHELMING VOTE CAST FOR TWO NEW MEN IN THE CIVIC AFFAIRS OF GLENDAL

They Ran Close Together in the Lead of All the Candidates for Council; Airport Proposition Is Turned Down Decisively

The election is over—the smoke of battle is drifting away.

The people of Glendale, by a decisive vote, have decreed that Asa Hall, 636 North Louise street, and W. A. Horn, 221 North Louise street, shall fill the vacancies on the Glendale city council caused by the expiring of the terms of Dwight Stephenson and Alexander H. Lapham. Amendments No. 5 and 6 carried. The rest were turned down.

Proposition 7 was victorious. Nettie C. Brown and Presley O. Lucas, who were opposed, were chosen as members of the Board of Education.

Up to noon today no official figures could be secured as to the total vote cast, but the Glendale Press compilation showed that about 3000 voters went to the polls and cast their ballots.

Of all the candidates for council Hall was "high man," polling 1368 votes, while Horn came second with 1182, according to official count. These men composed the team of Hall and Horn, which left the remainder of the candidates away behind. The vote left no doubt as to who the people of this city want as their future representatives on the council.

Sidney S. Gilhuly, 342 El Bonito, received the third highest number of votes. His total was 895, just 473 votes behind "high man" Hall, and 287 votes behind Horn.

Following Gilhuly came Don H. Webb with 847 votes, while Councilman Alexander H. Lapham came fifth with 727 votes. Frank Booth, with a total vote of 725 landed in sixth place, while Allen O. Martin, former chief of police of Glendale, brought up the rear with 349 votes to his credit.

Placed side by side the votes for councilmen are as follows:

Candidate	Votes
Hall	1368
Horn	1182
Gilhuly	895
Webb	847
Lapham	727
Booth	725
Martin	349

The vote on the amendments, and propositions, according to official count, is as follows:

No. 1—Yes, 857; No, 1794.
No. 2—Yes, 1133; No, 1287.
No. 3—Yes, 1114; No, 1348.
No. 4—Yes, 852; No, 1680.
No. 5—Yes, 1242; No, 1102.
No. 6—Yes, 1331; No, 901.
No. 7—Yes, 2271; No, 695.
No. 8—Yes, 1336; No, 1725.

Amendment No. 5 permits the council to fill vacancies in elective offices before the expiration of the term the person elected to any elective position.

Amendment No. 6, which also carried, requires that any qualified voter of the city of Glendale is eligible to appointment as city attorney. It also provides for the appointment and removal of his deputies and assistants.

Proposition No. 7, which went over big, instructs the city council to sell to the American Legion of Glendale a certain piece of land.

SCHOOL BUILDING PLANS ORDERED OF MR. PRIEST

Board of Education Issues Commission for Specifications

At its meeting Tuesday evening the board of education granted a commission to Architect Alfred Priest to prepare plans and specifications for the building program at Pacific Avenue school.

The question of granting other commissions was discussed but because not all members were present, decision was deferred until the next meeting. Mr. Priest presented preliminary plans for Glendale Avenue and Columbus Avenue additions which he had been commissioned to prepare, and Mr. Lindsay plans for the Acacia Avenue school in Inglewood. All of these plans were favorably considered by the board.

Superintendent White reported a conference had with Mr. Belanconi, owner of property in the northwest, where the board is seeking a site for an intermediate school. Mr. Belanconi's offer, Mr. White stated, is ten acres for $32,500, which was favorably received by the board, although definite action was postponed.

Mr. White also reported advice from the county counsel of Los Angeles to the effect that the board could advertise for bids before the bonds are sold, but can award no contracts until sale has been effected.

Another meeting will be held next Tuesday evening to take action on matters left open.

COMMUNITY FOLKS ANNOUNCE KITE DAY OF FUN

The members of Glendale Community Service announce a Kite Day for May 5, 1923. Albert T. Blanford is chairman of the committee in charge of this event that will be of special interest to the boys of the city. Drawings and specifications are being worked out and will be accessible to the boys in the various school buildings throughout the city.

The site for the tournament has not been selected as yet, but a large open space will be found near the center of the city for conducting the events. Ribbons will be given for first, second and third places. The list of events are:

- 1.—Construction race.
- 2.—1/4-mile dash.
- 3.—1/8-mile dash.
- 4.—Smallest kite.
- 5.—Largest kite.
- 6.—Strongest puller.
- 7.—Best emblem kite.
- 8.—Highest flying kite.
- 9.—Most artistic kite.
- 10.—Best decorated kite.
- 11.—Best box kite.
- 12.—Best bow kite.
- 13.—Best tail kite.
- 14.—Best novelty.

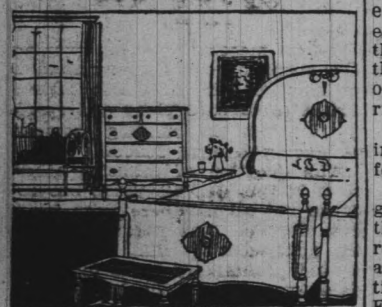

The athletic committee of Glendale Community Service will meet tonight in the boys' gymnasium of the high school to work out the athletic program for the coming season. Indoor baseball will be the first event in the season's sports. The members of the committee are: Ray Bentley, W. C. Waring, Normal Hayhurst, L. C. Wolfe, Robert Butts, Howard L. Butterfield, A. T. Blanford, Nelson Dick, Kenneth Wilde, A. G. Whelan and Rex C. Kelley.

AMAZING TALE OF UNOFFICIAL RETURNS FROM ANCIENT EGYPT. UNEARTHED

How Lost Queen Sues for Husband in Land of the Hittites

[By Associated Press]

LUXOR Egypt, April 11.—An ancient Hittite document, recently unearthed in Anatolia discloses an amazing royal romance in which Queen Ankhamen, consort of Pharaoh Tutankhamun, was one of the principals. It also appears that the queen was banished by Tutankhamun's successor, the Pharaoh Ay.

This remarkable document has been translated by Prof. E. A. H. Sayce, one of the leading Babylonian and Egyptian scholars of Great Britain. It reveals the extraordinary fact that while King Tutankhamun's body was still upon its bier awaiting burial, his 27-year-old wife dispatched an ambassador to the king of the Hittites, who was then besieging the ancient city of Carchemish between Mesopotamia and Damascus, asking the king to give her one of his sons in marriage.

"My husband is dead," said the Egyptian queen to the Hittite ruler through the ambassador. "I have no children. Your sons are said to be grown up. If you will give me one of them and if he will be my husband, he will be a great helpmate. I send bridal gifts."

The king of the Hittites apparently doubted the motives and good faith of the Egyptian queen. He replied to her overtures: "The son of your lord (the king) where is he? Have you deceived me? The general of the army (Horemheb) has not nominated my son to the kingship."

The queen thereupon rejoined: "What is this you say? I have deceived you? If I had a son and my people had a ruler, I would not have sought the hand of a man from another country. No one has had children by me. I have no son. Give me one of your sons as my husband and he shall be king of the land of Egypt."

The document shows that the royal romance was almost completed, by the king of the Hittites giving the fair suitor one of his sons; but just as the marriage was about to be celebrated, King Ay seized the throne of Egypt, and the helpless queen was banished.

Present history and archaeology show no trace of Queen Ankhamen. She seems to have disappeared from view after King Ay usurped the throne. It is known only that she was the real inheritor of the throne and that Tutankhamun owed his kingship entirely to her rights of royal succession.

It is presumed that Ay's motive in banishing her was to prevent a foreigner from ruling over Egypt. American archaeologists, who gave the name of this document to the Associated Press correspondent, read the foregoing circumstances as one of the most dramatic revelations in present day knowledge of Egyptian history.

The Hittite narrative, they say, makes it clear that Tutankhamun did not have progeny to continue his flourishing reign. It also makes it extremely unlikely they added that the body of Queen Ankhamen will be found in the royal necropolis.

DIES IN HARNESS IN NINETY-THIRD YEAR

CHICAGO, April 11.—Oliver Franklin Fuller, chairman of the board of Fuller-Morrison Wholesale Drug company, who believed that when a man retired from business and from a state of marriage, he began to die, died at his home here yesterday at the age of 93, having remained in the harness—professional and domestic—to the end.

Mr. Fuller announced his view on work and marriage thirteen years ago when he married for the second time, taking as his wife an old family friend, thirty years his junior.

Mr. Fuller came to Chicago 50 years ago from Connecticut. At the time of the Chicago fire he left his own home to burn while he saved the stock of his wholesale drug establishment for the use of the fire sufferers. After the fire the drugs were worth their weight in gold but it was his boast that he did not raise prices.

Many a man who is willing to be a grafter lacks the chance.

Frederick Warde Reviews Career

In all of Shakespeare's work. As a demonstration Mr. Warde recited it to the great enjoyment of the audience.

He described his work in support of the great Shakespearean interpreter, Charlotte Cushman, on her farewell tour, and explained how wonderful she was in Walter Scott's creation, Meg Merrilies, of the care with which everything was worked out by her to the minutest detail beforehand. A mechanical process which only the genius of Cushman could have concealed. On the last night of her tour she was presented with a golden crown by her admirers in New York who removed the horses from her carriage and drew her in triumph to her hotel.

His experiences were recited as the support of the gifted young actress, Adelaide Neilson, whose sudden death was such a loss to the stage.

His support as Laertes of Edwin Booth's "Hamlet," was referred to with the declaration that as an interpreter of the famous soliloquy, Booth was unsurpassed because he accepted the text of Shakespeare in all simplicity without endeavoring to torture it into some obscure meaning. There is nothing obscure about Shakespeare, Mr. Warde insisted, except in the vapors of his self-styled "interpreters."

Lawrence Barrett also had his place in the narrative with a brief biographical sketch of his rise from a bell boy to be a commanding figure on the stage.

Louis James and Douglas Fairbanks, and their characteristics, were pictured.

In closing, he said: "The stage today is not what it was when I joined it. I presume it is better, but I am not prepared to admit that fact. I do not find the giants of intellect, ability and genius we had fifty years ago, but the tastes and inclination of the people have changed in regard to their amusements and our view of life today is different from what it was 50 years ago."

As his final word he put the responsibility for the future of the spoken and film drama up to the audience saying: "When a play or a moving picture is brought to you that is unworthy, do not meet here and pass resolutions of condemnation which will only serve to advertise it, but ignore it, stay away from it; kill it by silence, and when a good play or picture is presented, support it."

The conclusion of the program was provided by Hazel Linkoek, violinist, accompanied upon the piano by her sister, Mrs. Pearl Curren. Two numbers were so exquisitely interpreted that it is altogether probable Glendale will not be able to retain this gifted young musician who is already receiving tempting offers to go elsewhere.

At the business session which preceded the program members of the nominating committee were chosen as follows: Mesdames Frank Ayars, E. W. W. Hayward, Julian Hayward, Homer Lockwood and H. Lee Clotworthy.

The report of the district federation meeting at Paso Robles was presented by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, Mrs. W. E. Evans and Mrs. Gannon.

Mrs. Charles Toll, president-elect of the district federation, was escorted to the platform by Mrs. C. W. Houston, and welcomed on behalf of the club with an appreciative speech by the president, Mrs. Campbell. Mrs. Toll, with tears in her voice, responded expressing her pleasure in being a member of the Tuesday Club and in the club house which she was seeing for the first time. She voiced the hope she would realize all the expectations of her staunch supporters.

Miss Elizabeth Mottern of 211 North Adams street was the week-end guest of Miss Bernice Hall of Long Beach, who is her accompanist. She will assist in the concert which Miss Mottern is to give April 24 in the Glendale Presbyterian church of this city.

Rehbert, and Mrs. Mary E. Lindsay.

A proposed amendment to the by-laws was read, which it adopted would be to have the nomination and election of officers by ballot one month previous to the annual meeting of the club and any member receiving a majority of votes cast on the nominating ballot for office shall be declared elected.

A number of propositions relative to the rental of the present club quarters were discussed but no definite action taken. About 35 members were present at the dinner which preceded the business meeting.

An invitation was read from the high school for the club to be present at the laying of the cornerstone this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The Tuesday Afternoon club extended an invitation to the president of the club and a delegate to attend the luncheon and reciprocity day program.

Mrs. Barker, president of the Business Women's club, will attend. The club endorsed the candidacy of Dr. Maude Wilde as president of the county federation. An invitation was read from the Business Women's Civic club to attend the county federation dinner in Los Angeles on April 25, when each of the presidents will give a short talk. Dr. Brown, Mrs. Lindsay, Mrs. Brainerd, Mrs. Riddell, Mrs. Brower, Dr. Eble, Dr. Tinkler, and Mrs. Grace Anderson will attend.

DOROTHY ROWLEY TELLS UP TO HER FRIENDS

Reveals Marriage Three Years Ago to Frank L. McGillis at Redlands

A secret which had been well kept for three years was revealed yesterday when Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. McGillis announced to their respective families that they had been married on July 21, 1920, at Redlands by Rev. Earl Bicker, who is the pastor of the Holiness church of Burbank, Rev. and Mrs. Bicker motored to Redlands with the young couple and the ceremony was performed at the home of Rev. Bicker's father.

Mrs. McGillis, whom her friends have been addressing as Miss Dorothy Rowley, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Rowley of 334 West Vine street. Frank McGillis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. McGillis of 1003 East Lomita avenue. The young couple will make their home in Belvedere gardens for the present, where Mr. McGillis is engaged in the real estate business.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGillis attended Glendale Union high school, from which they were graduated in 1920. As they desired to continue their education at college they decided not to announce their wedding. Mrs. Frank McGillis will complete a two years' secretarial course at the University of California, southern branch, this month. Mr. McGillis will resume his studies in September at the college of Osteopathy and Surgery in Los Angeles.

Edendale Young Folks Wed in Glendale

Lella G. Holmes and Leonard A. Kessinger, both of Edendale, were married at 3:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Presbyterian manse by Rev. W. E. Edmonds. They will make their home in Edendale.

REV. AND MRS. MOTTERN ENTERTAIN FRIENDS

Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Mottern of 211 North Adams were host and hostess on Monday evening at a prettily appointed dinner given for friends who are to leave soon for Pennsylvania. Mrs. Dr. J. H. Harper of Gettysburg, which was Mrs. Mottern's home city, H. A. Lewis of Williamstown, Pa., which was the home town of Rev. Mottern. Mrs. Hampton, who was a missionary in India for thirty years, goes east via Berkeley, where she will spend several days.

The guests were entertained with a musical program by Miss Elizabeth Mottern, and messages were written to be delivered to old friends by the visitors.

The meeting of the Thursday Morning Bible class will be held at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow morning from 10 until 11 o'clock. This is a non-denominational and inter-denominational class open to all the women of Glendale. Mrs. A. L. Dennis of the Bible Institute is the teacher.

Mrs. Don Chamberlain of San Diego is visiting her brother-in-law, Charles E. Chamberlain of 247 West Dryden, and will spend a few weeks here. Mr. Chamberlain is a well known salesman for the Sierra Paper Co.

COLLEGE WOMEN'S CLUB TO MEET ON SATURDAY

The members of the Glendale College Women's Club will meet at the Tuesday Afternoon Clubhouse Saturday at 12:30 o'clock for its April luncheon. All members who expect to attend are urged to make reservations immediately. Phone Mrs. Paul E. Webb, Glendale 13263. Many members will be glad to know that they are privileged to bring guests who are of university standing. Dr. James A. Francis, a speaker of note, will address the club, and there will be a group of vocal numbers by Mrs. Thelma Baldwin Leaton. Inasmuch as a large attendance is expected it will be necessary to make reservations before Thursday night.

METHODIST SISTERHOOD TO HOLD CLASS MEETING

The members of the Sisterhood class of the First Methodist church will hold their regular class meeting and social Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the church parlors. All new members are urged to attend. An interesting program is being planned by Mrs. T. L. Brown, chairman of the program committee.

The regular meeting of the Knights of Pythias held last night with Chancellor Commander Melzer in charge was attended by fifty members. Two new members were put through the first rank of page, and several applications for membership were received.

Build AND Furnish A HOME

WHAT HAVE YOU TO SHOW FOR ALL THE RENT YOU'VE PAID OUT?

Every red-corpusled human who loves security, comfort and independence has dreamed, thought, planned and talked about having a home of his own. Millions have cast timidity to the winds and put the dream through and reaped that tingle of happiness that comes with the "plunge."

A home is the rainbow of life, but you do not have to go to the end of it to get the contentment a self-owned home creates. Man reaches the station of independence quicker when he puts himself profitably and legitimately in debt.

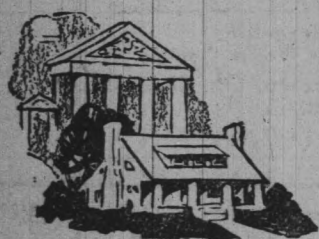

With just a little cash you can "swing" the deal to BUILD and FURNISH A HOME—where kiddies grow radiant and healthy in the great uncrowded outdoors—at the same time freeing yourself from the strangling bonds of some rapacious landlord.

A sum equal to the monthly rent you pay—say $50.00 per month—if invested at 6% interest—with earnings compounded semi-annually—will net you in five years, $3,499.34; in 10 years, $8,202.14; in 15 years, $14,522.64.

The rent you pay buys nothing but temporary shelter—the landlord still owns the property.

Beat The Landlord—Buy A Home of Your Own

A monthly investment in our CERTIFICATES of a sum equal to the rent you pay will, with the accumulated compounded 6% earnings, in a few years give you the purchase money for a home.

Monthly Investment	What you will have to pay on a home

The result of this check, in which "Red Crown" led its nearest competitor by 160%, is typical of the entire Pacific Coast field, where the majority of motorists get best results by using Red Crown, the gasoline of quality, and nothing else.

President Paine Selects September 5-8 for the Big Contest

Last Saturday delegates from the fourteen clubs belonging to the California State Horseshoe Pitchers' association met in the Santa Monica club grounds to arrange for the third annual tournament and decided on September 5, 6, 7 and 8 as the time.

President Paine selected the following members as program committee: George E. Krinbill, state secretary, Long Beach, chairman; F. J. Osborn, South Park club, Los Angeles; P. F. Bryan, El Segundo; Mr. Walden, Santa Monica.

There will be six or eight events. Prizes amounting to about $600 will be given to the lucky pitchers.

"THE FORGOTTEN LAW" OPENS AT THE GLENDALE

Many persons have been amazed to learn that there was actually a law in various parts of the United States by which a father could will a child away from the custody of its mother. Such a case forms the subject of "The Forgotten Law," a Metro picture, produced under the personal supervision of Max Graf, at the Glendale theatre today.

"The Forgotten Law" was adapted from the late Caroline Abbott Stanley's famous novel, "A Modern Madonna," which aroused tremendous interest by its focusing of interest upon this matter of existing archaic laws.

"Not long ago," said Mrs. Stanley, while talking with an interviewer a year before her death, "I attended the Smoot trial before the senatorial committee. After the startling testimony of some of the witnesses a stranger turned to me and said, 'This is all very dreadful, but it is no worse than many a real life situation. I know that in a number of states a man can will away from his mother her child, even her unborn child! Did you know it could be done here in this district until a few years ago?'"

Stephen Sanford, First American to Win Grand National Steeplechase

"Sonny" Sanford, son of John Sanford, well known sportsman and breeder of thoroughbreds, scored the first American victory in the richest jumping race in the world when Sergeant Murphy, his thirteen-year-old entry, finished first in a field of twenty-eight. This English classic has been run for eighty-three years. Only seven horses finished in what is known as the cruellest race in the world. Foxhall Keene's entry, Masterful, was so badly injured at one of the sixteen formidable jumps that he was destroyed. Two jockeys were injured. Sergeant Murphy was quoted in the betting at 100 to 6.

"NTH COMMANDMENT" OPENS FRIDAY AT THE T. D. & L.

What is meant by "The Nth Commandment?" In the case of the Paramount Cosmopolitan production of that title which opens at the T. D. & L. Theatre next Friday, to remain for two days, it seems to mean "Thou shalt not forget thy husband."

This picture should be interesting to all housewives. It is to be compared to "Humoresque," since the author, director and scenarist combined to create that successful production, and it is similar in its appeal. Colleen Moore, James Morrison and Eddie Phillips play the leading roles.

The Paramount picture, "The Glimpses of the Moon," which is closing tomorrow at the T. D. & L. Theatre, has a strong cast of players. Debe Danilevsky and Nita Naldi are featured, they playing the leading roles with David Powell and Maurice Costello in the support. Others in the cast are Ruby de Remer, Charles Gerrard, William Quirk and Pearl Sinden.

HAD RHEUMATIC ECZEMA SO BAD

Could Not Appear in Public Hokara Quickly Heals

"I want to say that I suffered the most awful agony from what the doctors called Rheumatic Eczema. The inflammation and pain was so intense that almost boiling water had no effect and only felt blood warm on my face. I could get no sleep and was continually groaning with pain. My doctor gave me several remedies in the way of greasy salves, which had the vilest smell on earth, but I got little relief and could not appear in public. My druggist advised HOKARA. I tried a small jar and got immediate relief. It will do all and exactly what you claim for it and I am willing to answer any inquiries concerning it." (Signed) A. C. P. Portland, Maine.

If you or any relative or friend suffer with severe skin trouble, don't think it necessary to use some greasy, ill smelling ointment that at the best can only give temporary relief. Get a bottle of Hokara on the money back if dissatisfied plan. Most every drug store can supply you. Jensen Drug Co., 133 North Brand—Advertisement.

I. T. U. NEARS ITS SEVENTY-FIRST ANNIVERSARY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 11.—Gratitude for continuance of "that cordiality which for the most part has marked the relations of the International Typographical Union and American newspaper publishers," and hope that the present "open shop" agitation will not disturb existing good feeling, is expressed by John McFarland, president, and J. W. Hays, secretary-treasurer of the International, in a membership communication inspired by the approach of the seventy-first anniversary of the founding of that organization.

"It is significant to recall that the first president of the New York Typographical Union, one of the local organizations which played a part in founding the national association, was Horace Greeley, editor and publisher of the New York Tribune," says the communication.

"Mr. Greeley, himself a skilled printer, belonged to the large body of publishers which has always believed that well treated and contented employees were worth the price of their independence from economic distress."

"Throughout the years of its existence the typographical union has seen comparatively little bitterness even in its greatest struggles. While strikes and other forms of strife have not been absent, in a majority of newspaper offices, union members and the managements have enjoyed cordial relationships most of the time. No doubt this is due in part to better understanding on each side of problems confronting the other. Publishers from the nature of their calling, develop broader knowledge of human problems and are less apt to see the men of narrower experiences. Something of the same attitude is to be found in printers whose work is also conducive of thoughtful habits of mind. The result is seen in the generally prosperous condition of newspapers and the relative contentment of employees."

"Efforts to advance an open shop movement at this time are regrettable chiefly because they add to the turmoil and unrest of the public mind. Wise thought and sound policies along class warfare lines are scarcely to be expected to develop among a people beset by a vast variety of social problems. The American Plan represents radical republicanism in the same sense that the Workers Party represents radical communism. Both movements derive much of their motive power from the same agencies. It has but recently been revealed that the importance of the radical communistic movement in this country has been grossly exaggerated by slanders and propaganda bent on enriching employers and capitalists. The same types, and in some cases no doubt the same individuals, carry on the 'open shop' movement—professional propagandists, contributing solicitors and speakers.

"The large employer of labor is often easy to victimize. His multitude of special business cares preclude thoughtful consideration of propositions presented by promoters of movements. He has usually an annual appropriation to spend on 'policy.' The promoter enjoys that situation."

"From a strictly cynical viewpoint it can be seen that an employer has little to gain from the open shop movement. In the first place workers are not likely to allow their highly beneficial trade unions to be wrested from them. But even supposing the movement, at great cost, should drive unionism to the wall. What then? Would the men who had known the advantages and independence of collective bargaining and the philanthropic provisions of unionism docilely accept a state of juvenile dependence on employers, or worse, descend to serfdom as would be the case in some shops? It is more likely that they would turn to political radicalism, or, if driven further, to sabotage and violence."

"Certainly the wiser policy at this time for all concerned is to seek national development and prosperity through thoughtful and sympathetic study of economic problems, such as has characterized most of the relations between the printing trades unions and the larger group of newspaper publishers for many years."

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

By S. W. STRAUS,

President American Society for Thrift.

IN a recent industrial survey it was found that the amount of avoidable waste in American production is 25 per cent. In other words, one-fourth of all the time, money and energy put into the gigantic hopper of the composite American factory is wasted unnecessarily.

This seems an incredible sacrifice of values—an apparently unbelievable lack of efficiency and a heavy burden on the consumer.

The survey completed under the supervision of the fabricated production department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, points out that lack of standardization or excess of variety are responsible for a large part of this industrial waste. This is due to the whims and fancies of the buying public and the endeavor by the manufacturers and merchants to cater to the insatiable demand for something new or something different.

Thus we have a situation in which there is an industrial loss running far into the millions of dollars yearly, which to a great extent may be attributed to mere caprice and fancy.

American manufacturing genius has manifested itself to best advantage in mass production and it should have the continued benefit of standardized output.

It would seem that the education of the public to be less exacting in the matter of varieties and less capricious in continually demanding something new or something different, might be the means of saving a very large industrial waste.

In seeking methods of eliminating the large industrial waste in this country the manufacturers could accomplish much by using every possible means to educate the public to these less extravagant practices.

"Darling," he cried, "I love you madly. I have been crazy about you ever since my head was turned by those beautiful eyes. I love you insanely."

"Then maybe you had better see father," she murmured softly. "Ah," he explained joyously, "then you'll marry me?"

"No," she said sweetly. "You see, dad's an alienist."

BUSTER BROWN TO INTRODUCE TIGE TO PUBLIC

"Tige" will come to town in a few days—in fact, to be exact, he will be at the chamber of commerce auditorium, Tuesday, April 17, at 2:30 p. m., under the auspices of the Buster Brown store, 122 North Brand.

Tige selected the chamber of commerce auditorium for the reason that he expects to perform stunts that will require considerable space. In other words he is going to give the children an entertainment that will be worth going many miles to see. The fame of Buster Brown and Tige still lives in the memory of every child and grown-up as well, who followed the wily old dog many years ago when he first made his bow to the public. He has grown better with age, and the Buster Brown and Tige of today are entirely different from the same characters many years ago. The Buster Brown Shoe store is putting on this entertainment without cost to the public, and free tickets may be had by calling at the Buster Brown Shoe store, 122 North Brand.

BEAUTIFUL BELLEHURST PARK IN THE HEART OF GLENDALE

NOW SELLING LIKE WILD-FIRE!

This magnificent old estate—an enchanted garden in the midst of the fastest forward marching city in America.

Come today—at once—and see with your own eyes these wonderful home-sites covered with fine old palms, magnolias, oaks, and hundreds of bearing orange, lemon and olive trees.

We are creating here in Glendale a unique residence park for Southern California—one that will rival and excel in beauty the thousand acres of distinctive home communities we have developed in Piedmont and Oakland in the San Francisco Bay region.

Bellehurst Park is dedicated to fine homes. Restrictions are carefully worked out to insure steadily increasing values. All city improvements of the highest type are now being installed at our expense. Pacific Electric trains only 2 blocks away. Four schools, within 5 blocks. Very easy terms to first buyers.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF EAGLE ROCK CITY

'MYSTIC CIRCLE' IS TO JUSTIFY ITS NICKNAME

Will Be Transformed Overnight Into Huge Bouquet

"The Mystic Circle" is at last to justify its nickname by becoming overnight just that—"The Mystic Circle!"

On the 27th and 28th of this month it will be one huge and beautiful May basket, filled with delicious home-made sweets, and attended by sixteen of the prettiest girls in the district. No one who then sees this concrete waiting station, which has borne the brunt of so many press and verbal jokes since its erection a few months ago, will doubt the suitability of the jesting title bestowed upon it. For on the evening of the 27th it will be transformed into a thing of magic beauty, a huge, multi-colored bouquet.

The American Legion Auxiliary has been granted permission to use the station for the candy sale, to raise money for the May dance in the club house on the first Saturday in May. This organization will wave the flag and wave upon the "Mystic Circle" will become a flowery tower tended by sixteen fairies as pretty as flowers themselves. Every inch of bare concrete and iron supports will blossom forth in a riot of color. Flags and drapes of all kinds will cover the structure, and flowers will be tucked in over all the other decorations until there is not an available inch of space left.

The young ladies who will sell the candy in this unusual booth will be veritable blossoms themselves, attired in frilled and petal-like crepe paper costumes. This same group of girls will do the Maypole dance, and from their ranks will probably be chosen the May queen for the ball. A vote will be given with each ten-cent bag of candy, so much rivalry and practical salesmanship will be exhibited among the contestants in their personal campaigns—all will bargain smiles and the finest of home-made sweets for votes.

It is hoped that many motorists, passing through Eagle Rock on Colorado boulevard, will stop out of curiosity to see the spectacle—and remain to buy. And with the support of the townspeople who will turn out for the sight, it is hoped by those in charge that sufficient funds can be raised to put on one of the finest dance programs ever held in Eagle Rock.

CITY PRINTING

NOTICE OF STREET WORK
PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT the Council of the City of Glendale, on the 10th day of February, 1923, did, at its meeting, adopt Resolution of Intention No. 189, declaring as follows:
SECTION 1. That the public interest and convenience require and it is the intention of the Council of the City of Glendale to order the following work and improvement to be done, to wit:
First: That

THE FIRST ALLEY

east of Louise Street from the southerly line of Broadway to the northerly line of Harvard Street, except those portions which are already graded to the official line and grade, be graded and the official grade heretofore established therefor, the same to be done in accordance with Plan No. 624, Profile No. 448, and Specifications for said work adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale, and known as Specifications No. 36.

Second: That the first alley east of Louise Street from the southerly line of Broadway to the northerly line of Harvard Street, be paved with an oil macadam pavement three (3) inches in thickness in accordance with Plan No. 624, Profile No. 448, and Specifications for said work adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale, and known as Specifications No. 36.

Third: That a four (4) inch class cast iron water pipe be laid in Kenwood Street, Harvard Street, and Broadway, and across all intersecting streets and alleys, and along a line extending (17) feet easterly and parallel to the westerly line of Kenwood Street and its northerly extension, and parallel to the northerly line of Broadway and its easterly extension to a line two (2) feet northerly of and parallel to the southerly line of Harvard Street, and its easterly extension, together with all connections, valves, fire hydrants and appurtenances, all as shown on Plan No. 624, and Profile No. 448, and said pipe and appurtenances to be used for fire protection and the distribution of the municipal water supply of the City of Glendale. Said pipe shall be laid in accordance with said plan and profile and between the points on the lines designated thereon. That said pipe connections and appurtenances shall be constructed in accordance with said plan and profile thereof designated as Plan No. 624, Profile No. 448, and Specifications for said work adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale, and known as Specifications No. 42 for furnishing and laying cast iron water pipe in the City of Glendale, and that galvanized iron service pipes of the sizes and at the locations shown on Plan No. 624, be laid above described to a line drawn parallel to and approximately twelve (12) inches easterly of the easterly line of Kenwood Street, and to a line drawn parallel to and approximately twelve (12) inches westerly of the westerly line of Kenwood Street. Said service pipes shall be laid in further accordance with said Specifications No. 42.

Fourth: That two (2) inch galvanized standard, welded screw across all intersecting streets and alleys along a line extending (17) feet northerly of and parallel to the southerly line of Harvard Street and its westerly extension, and from a line ten (10) feet westerly of the northerly extension, of the first alley west of Kenwood Street and lying between Harvard Street and Colorado Street to a line seventeen (17) feet easterly of and parallel to the westerly line of Kenwood Street and its southerly extension, together

On Friday the West End P. T. A. meets at the school. A special program is planned. Mrs. John Davis will be the speaker for the afternoon. She has not announced her topic, but states that it will be of great interest to all those who have children in school. Miss Algie will read, and Mrs. Snow and her daughter, Erna Mae, will give an unusual instrumental number. Mrs. Gregory and Mrs. Wiltz will present a piano and telephone number. After the program, refreshments will be served.

INDIRECT BENEFITS FROM L. A. BOND ISSUE

It has been the general impression of some that Eagle Rock would receive no benefit from the bond issue to be floated in Los Angeles on June 6th. Many thought that the bonds were for the harbor district alone, and could only indirectly benefit Eagle Rock. But about seven million dollars of the issue will be of greater benefit to this city. Chief among these are the improvements to the Los Angeles jail and to the library. The construction of a large viaduct will also be taken care of out of the money raised in this bond issue. The assessed valuation of Los Angeles is $900,000,000, and that of Eagle Rock but $4,600,000, so the part of the issue that Eagle Rock would assume would be about one-half of one per cent, which would approximate about $100,000 on the issues which are now at stake.

Charles M. Schwab said at a dinner in New York: "The advocates of government ownership—government-owned railroads and mines and what not—do not shout so loud since Russia showed the world how this idea works. When Sir Eric Geddes was trying to introduce economies into England's government services last year he often noticed, in a passage in Whitehall, a sentry on duty. He asked the sentry one day what his duties were. The man said he was there to warn people not to touch the wall. He had been stationed there since that warning for years. Why? He didn't know. Well, Sir Eric Geddes investigated the matter and he found that a war minister's wife had brushed her sleeve against the wall, and that wall thirty-three years before. A warning sentry stationed there that afternoon had remained ever since."

CITY PRINTING

With all connections, valves and appurtenances, all as shown on Plan No. 624, Profile No. 448, and said pipe and appurtenances to be used for fire protection and the distribution of the municipal water supply of the City of Glendale. Said pipe shall be laid in accordance with said plan and profile between the points on the lines and grades and at the elevations designated thereon. That said pipe connections, valves and appurtenances shall be constructed in accordance with said plan and profile thereof designated as Plan No. 624, Profile No. 448, and Specifications for said work adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale, and known as Specifications No. 51 for furnishing and laying galvanized standard, welded screw pipe in the City of Glendale.

SECTION 2. That pursuant to the Act of the Legislature of the State of California approved February 27, 1923, the Act amendatory thereto, serial bonds bearing interest at the rate of 7 per cent per annum shall be issued to represent assessments of Twenty-five ($25.00) Dollars or over for the costs of said work of improvement; said serial bonds shall extend over a period ending nine (9) years from and after the second day of January next succeeding the date of said bonds, and an even annual proportion of the principal sum thereof shall be payable by coupon on the second day of January every year after their date until the whole is paid; and the interest shall be payable semi-annually by coupon on the second days of January and July, respectively, of each year at the rate of 7 per cent per annum on all sums unpaid, until the whole of said principal and interest is paid.

SECTION 3. The City Engineer is directed to make a diagram of the property affected or benefited by the proposed work or improvement as described herein and to be assessed to pay the cost and expenses thereof. Such diagram shall show each separate lot, piece or parcel of land, and the area in square feet of each of such lots, pieces or parcels of land, and the relative location of the same to the work proposed to be done within the limits of the assessment therefor.

SECTION 4. All Maps, Cross-sections, Plans and Profiles referred to herein are on file in the office of the City Engineer of said City. All Specifications referred to herein are on file in the office of the City Clerk of said City. Said Maps, Plans, Cross-sections, Plans and Profiles are hereby referred to for a more particular description of said work and made a part hereof.

The district to be assessed to pay the costs and expenses of said work and improvements is described in Resolution of Intention No. 1819, to which said Resolution of Intention reference is hereby made for further particulars of said work.

BEN F. DUPUY,
City Engineer of the City of Glendale.

SCHOOLS SLIGHTLY AFFECTED BY ANNEXATION

The Eagle Rock Teachers' Club met last night for a combination business and social evening. Miss Ida Christine Iversen, president of the Los Angeles Teachers' Club, was the speaker of the evening. Miss Iversen explained what the local teachers' organization might expect when the consolidation is made effective with Los Angeles. She stated the difference in routine of the Los Angeles body, and also outlined the aims of the elementary teachers' association. The local educational programs will be but slightly affected by the change in government, according to Superintendent Harwood.

LOCAL ZONING PLAN IS DESTROYED BY ANNEXATION

Los Angeles Will Decide Zoning Question in the Future

When Los Angeles takes over Eagle Rock as a liability, many problems that have perplexed local residents will cease to exist, and many more will take their place. Chief among those which will be abolished is the zoning ordinance which has been the thorn in the flesh of more than one property owner who wished to erect a building upon his land which often turned out to be for a purpose not in accordance with the zoning ordinance of his district. Difficulties that have arisen before the trustees over the business, residential and other zones, have never seemed to abate. With the advent of Eagle Rock into Los Angeles in the near future, the local zoning ordinance will become null and void, although one along somewhat the same lines may take its place. This will be up to the city administration of Los Angeles.

THE MARKETS

[By Associated Press]
NEW YORK, April 11.—Heavy professional selling of the oil shares, based on cuts in California and Pennsylvania crude prices and rumors of cuts in other fields, imparted a decidedly reactionary trend to prices in today's active stock market. Petroleum losses in the oil group ranged from 1 to 6 points with more than a half dozen of the popular issues falling to new low levels of the year. Other stocks yielded in sympathy, but not so sharply. Sales approximated 1,125,000 shares.

PITTSBURGH, April 11.—Important reductions in the price of crude oil were announced here at the opening of the market today, the following new prices being posted:
New York Transit Company and Bradford District in national transit lines, $4 a barrel, a reduction of 25 cents; Pennsylvania grade in national transit lines; in Eureka Pipe Lines and in Buckeye lines, $3.75, a reduction of 25 cents; Corning, $2.15, a reduction of 15 cents; Cabell, $2.41, and Somerset, $2.20, a reduction of 35 cents.

Ragland was unchanged at $1.10. Public interest again appeared to be lacking at the opening of today's stock market, initial changes being narrow and irregular. Resumption of selling pressure in the domestic oil shares was founded on reports of a cut of 25 cents in Penna crude oil prices. Dupont advanced a point and fractional improvement was noted in most of the steel shares.

Heavy offerings of the oil shares continued during the first half hour. Losses of 1½ to 2½ points were recorded by California Petroleum, Pan-American, Phillips Petroleum, Marland, Houston, Producers and Refiners and General Asphalt. Standard Oil of California dropped 58 to a new low for the year. American Woolen and American Cotton Oil advanced 1½, and the preferred two on reports of an early merger of that company with two other large companies in the same industry. Sugars held steady on a continuation of high prices for Cuban raws. Exchange opened firm. Demand sterling was quoted around $4.65 and French francs advanced five points to 65 cents.

W. L. MILLER IS NOT TOM MIX TO STAR IN OCCIDENTAL RODEO SAT.

Editor of the Sentinel Is Slightly Worse on Tuesday

W. L. Miller, editor of the Sentinel, is not recovering from the severe cold which forced him to quit his work last Tuesday and take to his bed. His physician stated late yesterday that pneumonia threatened to develop within the next 24 hours. Since his condition has become more serious, it has been necessary to keep a nurse in attendance both night and day. Last night he was slightly worse than formerly. His many friends keep the employees in the Sentinel office busy answering queries as to his condition. Despite his absence, the Sentinel makes its regular appearance, although the employees find some difficulty in keeping the ball rolling without their leader.

SAN DIMAS WILL MARK ITS DAM COMPLETION

Flood control has been a problem of great interest in this county within recent years. The Devil's Gate dam in Pasadena was the first large work of this kind constructed in the county. It has been followed by the construction of the big flood control dam in San Dimas canyon, and the smaller one in Live Oak canyon, a few miles east of San Dimas. With these three large flood control dams on the job three valuable districts of this high-value county are now safe from flood damage.

But on the heels of this matter of flood control by canyon dams, which is now a practically settled question, comes the sister problem—the conservation of flood waters for use in irrigation. Naturally these two questions travel hand in hand. Flood waters, disarmed of their destructive power, should mean irrigated water saved for useful purposes. However, up to this time the joint solution of these two problems has not been made. We have flood check dams, and we have water storage dams, but nowhere do we have a storage dam that operates in conjunction with a flood control project.

In this connection a most interesting study has been arranged by the people of San Dimas and neighboring towns in the upper San Gabriel valley, with the approval of the Flood Control and the County Supervisors. On Saturday, April 21, the completion of the San Dimas and Live Oak canyon dams will be celebrated with a gathering of interested persons at a basket picnic at the foot of San Dimas dam. This festive function is called for 1 o'clock, and seats, tables, and coffee will be provided for it. After the lunch a brief program, appropriate to the day, will be given, and then the company will be shown the Live Oak canyon dam, and from that point will be taken to the hill region south of the town of San Dimas, where the basin and dam-site of the Puddingstone canyon reservoir, projected by the flood control, will lie spread like an open book, along with the wide stretch of rich country that it is proposed to irrigate from this conserved water. The Puddingstone reservoir is the second unit of a great irrigation system of which the San Dimas dam, and other like works are the first unit. All this naturally designed system can be seen here from one point of view, and its contemplation is bound to be interesting.

The city and county officials of Los Angeles, with delegations from chambers of commerce, city councils, business men's clubs, well and water companies, packing associations and fruit exchanges, and numerous other organizations, from Ontario to Van Nuys, are expected in official cars that bear placards with the name and home town of each. All persons in and about Glendale who wish to attend are welcome, and especially all organizations that will send such official delegations. The route to the dam is signed all the way from San Dimas, and easily found. Glendale should be well represented.

A poor man has to spend money to prove that he has it; a rich man doesn't.

Burbank Delegates Give Report at Woman's Club Meetings

Woman's club meeting Tuesday afternoon was well attended. Attorney Margaret Yale, as chairman of the legislative committee, man of the legislative committee, gave her report for her month's work. A letter was read to the club from Mrs. Mattie Craig asking the support of the club for the celebration of Mothers' Day program Sunday afternoon, May 13, sponsored by the Choral Club.

The Choral Club told of the first annual program which will be given outdoors on the school grounds of annual program which will be given outdoors on the school grounds of the Edison building. They asked only that the club members attend, bring their friends and boost the affair all they can.

The club voted to join the general federation of clubs. This will entitle them to a vote and voice in business matters when the biennial national federation comes to Los Angeles in 1924. The club also voted to pay $500 to Mr. Blanchard and thus they will secure the deed to their clubhouse lots.

Mrs. Stumbo announced a meeting of the new section of the arts and crafts society of the club at 8 p. m. on Monday.

Mrs. May Clarke was appointed delegate to attend the state convention at Eureka May 1 to 4. Reports of the district convention were read. Mrs. May Clarke

They were all very proud of her address and the manner in which she delivered it, contrasting her with many others who could not be understood at all when they spoke.

Mrs. Roy Pendall read the report of Mrs. E. B. Fisher, who was

SENTIMENT TOWARDS PROHIBITION

Frequently the charge is made that prohibition was "slipped over" on the people of this country. Such a statement does not bear analysis. Before the eighteenth amendment had been adopted, thirty-two out of the forty-eight states had voted prohibition into their statutes. When the amendment was put to vote it was sustained by all but two states, and these, geographically, less than Los Angeles county. No other amendment ever was adopted with anything so approximating unanimity. The statement is heard often that "leading men" are opposed to prohibition. Where then was their leadership when the country overwhelmingly accepted prohibition?

Recently the subject was discussed by members of the University club of Pasadena, a thoughtful body of men. The leading speaker was the Rev. Daniel F. Fox. He made a clear exposition of the workings of the law, and expressed the belief that it should not be modified. Exceptions were taken by a number of his hearers. Some advocated a change permitting traffic in beer and light wines. A few would have the amendment repealed, and the whole decision left to individual citizenship and conscience. Beliefs appeared to be fixed, so that it was doubtful in the end, if any opinion had been changed. When the question was put to vote, a large majority signified approval of the amendment, and of the Volstead act, and the enforcement of both.

There is no denial that the illegal whisky trade is of considerable volume, and that it is doing great damage. It is a fair assumption that this phase of the situation will pass. The business is getting dangerous to the promoters. It is costing them vast sums in fines and in forfeiture of equipment, and they are beginning to crowd the prisons. That these criminals, and their patrons, morally on the same plane, hold the law in contempt, seems to be advanced as a reason for abating the law. It does not strike the judgment as a good plan; far better to abate the criminals.

In the discussion mentioned, there was free denunciation of the hypocrisy that "talks dry and drinks wet," and of the posing prohibitionist who begs his doctor for a prescription. The prevalent idea was that with the stuff now purveyed being so deadly that it was killing consumers, and scaring off those who would purchase liquor if they thought they could get the genuine, that the demand would lessen, and ultimately cease. Then the next generation, unfamiliar with alcohol, would have no craving for it. With the passing of perhaps a score of years, the problem, fully solved, would vanish to appear no more.

THE FIFTH CITY

According to residents of Los Angeles that city now ranks fifth in population in the United States. They concede that New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Detroit still are able to count more noses. The census bureau does not agree, but places Los Angeles in ninth place, with Cleveland, St. Louis, Baltimore and Boston still ahead. A question as to which is the better authority naturally arises. The chances are that Los Angeles is familiar with the facts, from contact, while facts have failed to make an impression on the less enthusiastic census bureau. At that, the western metropolis, well might be content, say, with seventh place for the present. The certainty of an ultimate fourth place seems to be assured.

There can be no doubt that Los Angeles is growing at a far greater rate than any other American city. The census estimate is based on the growth recorded in eight years prior to 1920. This might be all right for a community jogging along at a calm and moderate gait. Los Angeles ceased some time ago to just jog along. It broke into a gallop, and it maintains the speed. Statisticians there believe that the increase in population in the two years last past was greater than in all the eight years prior to 1920. Visible indications give such view abundant support. A city growing so fast that in volume of building it stands third, exceeded only by New York and Chicago, is not to be measured by the yardstick that might be applied to the ordinary urban community.

A COLLECTIVE CONSCIENCE HAUNTED

The people of Russia are afraid. They are aware of the iniquity of the ruling regime. They regard the crimes marking bolshevist domination as dark and sinister enough to evoke divine wrath. Consequently at the report that Jupiter was to collide with the earth, of course to instant extinction of the globe, they were, in the centers where the rumor spread, seized with the hysteria of terror. The mental condition thus indicated is highly significant. The Russians are a religious people, for many generations fairly steeped in dogma. It has been their wont even in their daily greetings, to make some allusion to the God in Whom they had been reared to trust.

The bolshevists, denying all spiritual life, scoffing at faith, began a war on every form of religion. They looted the churches, partly in the spirit of greed, that led them to loot all places that might conceal treasure, but more in delight at showing their contempt for all that had been deemed sacred. Not only did they defile the temple but they subjected its protectors to imprisonment or slaughter.

It is impossible to conceive that such a change of sentiment as this course indicated, could have been acceptable to the common Russian folk. They must have viewed it with horror and trembling, except as to the bestial rabble ever eager to look upon scenes of violence. Then came the report that the world was to be crashed into space. To their simple minds it appeared as truth, for the fate well might have been regarded by them as earned by the wicked course of their masters.

SCRAPPING NAVIES

The president of the naval committee of the French senate has declared that he is in favor of a conference to bring about the scrapping of all navies. The accomplishment of the ultimate feat will belong to the time when the sword has been beaten into a pruning hook; a very pleasing time to contemplate, but not yet scheduled definitely for arrival.

In an ideal state there could be no need of a navy. Ships for exchange of international courtesies would require guns only for the firing of salutes. Perhaps a satisfactory noise could be created in some other fashion. Take inventive genius from its task of bettering armament and munitions, and it could devote much energy to creation of a saluting machine. A glance about the world does not indicate that any nation having a seaboard could yet dispense with its navy. The inclination to dispense with it is formulated mostly by far-visions individuals who are striving to glimpse a period in the distant future. Even France, whence comes the present suggestion of scrapping (in the sense of junking) shows signs of warlike mood. With the exception of the United States all the powers that promised to reduce certain types of armament, are busy trying to fill the gap with armament of a different type, but so adapted to modern conditions as to be more effective.

Perhaps the French statesman does not mean all he says. If he does mean it, his countrymen will for the present, permit him to enjoy almost a complete monopoly of his idea.

Wisdom for the Restless

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Go as far as you can and then wait calmly, since wait you must, for the time and place to make the next step.

Before the world cooled the law of progress was written in the occult records and it is the same today as it was when the first mollusk moved lethargically in the primal ooze. Last night I came across a restatement of it while reading a magazine article and I hid me to my note book and set it down for the heartening of the discouraged. In the words of the magazine writer—and I can not improve on them—the law stands so:

"The rule of progress is that you can never go any further nor any faster in any direction than is allowed in the general plan, nor until the time has come for you to go that way."

Brothers we are, whether we like it or not, and the rear guard pulls terribly on the feet of those who lead the van. No man may go far alone; he must at some point mark time until the hindmost laggard can come a bit nearer, which may be God's way of securing consideration for the backward.

There is no use champing the bit. The law is, and the law alone works. Progress has rhythm and design. You can move only when the time comes, and you must move then or drop back. But one thing you can do, children of ambition. You can be ready when the marching order is given. The wise man prepares while the unwise frets.

Life, it seems to me, is a bit like an escalator. You stand steady while the machinery moves. When you reach the crest it is time to go on. You recall that at the top of every escalator stands a boy who says as you come up:

"Please step off with your left foot first." That is order, because it is with the left foot that you can best escape from the movement of the machine. And there is just one time for each man to step, his time. If he steps too soon or too late he meets disaster.

Just now there seems to have arrived a time in world progress when many of us must perforce mark time. The escalator is moving steadily up, but none of us know toward what. There is no use jumping, neither conservatives nor the radicals nor even the dreamers can do much. The crest of the world wave is still ahead. We must rest and prepare for whatever task meets us.

The law is the same whether the progress is that of an individual, a small group, or a constellation of stars. Individually we do our best, and suddenly we come to a dead wall. It is waiting time, rest time, if you will; but certainly never treading time. We are part of all that is, and when we can not advance individually we can stand and help the chaps behind.

THE RIGHT WORD

By W. CURTIS NICHOLSON

PRONUNCIATION BROADCAST

(Find the error in this article.)

Last Friday, from the WOR-Station, a large number of words was broadcast by the author of "The Right Word", careful attention being given to correct pronunciation. A few of these words will be found below.

Accomplish
The accent should fall on the second syllable, all, not on the first syllable (I as in aisle; last as in habit; final a silent).

Deflect
The accent should fall on the first syllable, def, not on the second. Both f's are short.

Plumage
The accent should fall on the last syllable, nance, not on the first. The f is short as in habit.

Either . . . Neither
The preferred pronunciation of these words is ther and n't ther (I as in police, not as in aisle).

Address
The accent is on the last syllable.

Minneapolis
The pronunciation is min-nis-1-pal, not min-ni-1-pal.

Champion
Do not say cham-1-pion (I as in police). Correct: cham-1-pi-on (I as in habit; o as in winsome).

Yesterday's Error
There was no doubt but that every one on board had been drowned.

Vocabulary
Do you know what an epithet is? It is an adjective, or a phrase or word used adjectively, to describe some quality or attribute of its object, either good or bad, as, an atrocious act.

Municipal
Mrs. A. L. G. of Chicago writes, "Maw is a new word to me. I thought it meant mouth, but in Webster's Dictionary I find it means stomach."

A. L. G. submits the following excerpt: . . . but the huge maw was armed with four rows of teeth . . .

Meanings of maw: 1. a bird's stomach; 2. a mammal's air-bladder of a fish; 3. gullet, jaws, or mouth, as of a voracious mammal or fish.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

Memories and dreams. Life is woven and colored with them. As a fabric is woven and colored with threads and patterns.

So life is woven much of memories and dreams.

There is the sunshine of today. But somewhere in the weaving is the sunshine of many days gone by.

In softer light perhaps. The sunshine of far days in boyhood.

And in youth with its flood of hopes and aspirations.

Memory recalls and holds fast the sunshine of bygone days.

And there is the friend of today. And there are as well the friends of days long gone.

The friends of boyhood. Whose world was ours.

Whose laughter we recall and whose companionship comes back to us.

And then came the time for separation. But the memories stay.

A gracious part of the beauty of the pattern of life.

Woven into the pattern are morning glories. Vivid dawns and soft twilight.

The chattering of birds in trees along the lane.

The waving of clover in the fields in summer.

The rustle of leaves in tall trees. And the babble of brooks.

The old road along which we went barefoot making patterns in the dust.

And so hope and memory play their great part in the making of beauty in life.

Splashing it here and there with rare colors. Bringing us back to scent of a wild flower, the sunlight on green grass, the graceful waving of the treetop, the splash and wash of water in the brook.

Yes, the glory of life is much in memories and dreams.

Memories and dreams. The future with its promise. Obstacles to be overcome and fame to be attained and riches to be got and place and position to be reached.

The glory of hope. School to be done and work to be begun. A place to be gained in the world.

And so hope and memory play their great part in the making of beauty in life.

Splashing it here and there with rare colors. Bringing us back to scent of a wild flower, the sunlight on green grass, the graceful waving of the treetop, the splash and wash of water in the brook.

Yes, the glory of life is much in memories and dreams.

Songs of the Poets

The Waking Year—By Emily Dickinson

A lady red upon the hill
Her annual secret keeps;
A lady white within the field
In placid lily sleeps!

The tidy breezes with their brooms
Sweep vale and hill and tree!
Prithce, my pretty housewives!
Who may expected be?

The neighbors do not yet suspect!
The woods exchange a smile—
Orchard, and buttercup and bird,
In such a little while!

And yet how still the landscape stands,
How nonchalant the wood,
As if the resurrection
Were nothing very odd!

They were the great pathfinders
Perhaps the stanchest type
Of human being is the pioneer.
And it must have taken the most dauntless spirit to start out from St. Joseph in 1848 to travel in a covered wagon across 2000 miles of unknown country that was infested by merciless savages and thick with the obstacles and perils of nature.

It is hard to believe that there is "a man with soul so dead" that he can witness this film and not thrill with the pardonable pride of belonging to this stock.

Although these three pictures have a certain amount of "romance and love story dragged in by the heels, their main appeal is non-theatrical. They are addressed to that love of adventure and thirst for knowledge which are strong in all of us. At least they make us grateful that some film makers believe that once in a while we can be thrilled by something else than sex or crime.

(Copyright, 1923, by Dr. Frank Crane)

THE bulk of the moving picture industry is theatrical. Most of the films are prepared for the diversion of the public.

But the moving picture business is bigger than amusement. It contains such educational potencies and exercises, such an unquestionable influence over the public mind, that it cannot be prevented from becoming a great educational and moral power.

Three recent moving pictures excellently combine human interest, entertainment, and valuable instruction.

The movie entitled "Down to the Sea in Ships" is a faithful and instructive portrayal of the days when whaling was an important industry. Better than any book or history or written description, it brings to us a realization of life in New Bedford, and on the whaling ships that sailed from that port in a former day.

"Hunting Big Game in Africa" is equivalent to a whole volume of travel writing. It brings to our eyes a most realistic impression of those jungles, forests, and wide spaces of the dark continent and of the strange beasts that are found there. It is a whole course in natural history condensed in two hours.

From it we get an intimate acquaintance with the elephant, the giraffe, the hippopotamus, the wild hog, and the other strange denizens of the wild that we could acquire in no other way.

And of the film "The Covered Wagon" it is difficult to say too much in praise.

This is probably the most thoroughly American picture ever produced. Every bit of it is real.

There are some of us still living who have seen these wagon trains, and who in childhood were familiar with the men and women in them.

And these men and women represent what is perhaps about the sturdiest stock of the human race. They are rough and often uncouth, but they had a courage that was majestic and the kind of set purpose which has made America what it is today.

German boats are rapidly reappearing on the lines of trade they plied before the war. For good reasons the ships sailing under other flags shrink from competition with the new German merchant marine. The Germans are expected to cut freight rates. This will not tend to improve a business none too prosperous now. The new German boats are supposed to be the last word in efficient freight vessels. In them are incorporated all the lessons of the war. They are built in the most economical sizes. The relations of cargo holds, boiler rooms and bunker space are presumed to correspond to the best practice. The vessels are designed for efficient loading and discharging. The overhead is judged to be unusually low. The boats were built with very cheap labor, by workmen fed partly on subsidized bread. The coal was partly paid for by the government, freight rates to the building yards were partly at government cost, the steel was rolled under subsidy. Insurance is secured at reduced rates. The sailors are paid in a grossly depreciated currency. The masters of the German vessels are fired with a patriotic zeal to injure the flag of their country in every port. The Teutonic fervor that once animated the imperial navy now permeates the spirit of the new merchant marine. Sailors are available in profusion. There are new boats, eficient masters, high-grade crews. For the present, sailing the high seas is much better than working at home.

The treaty of peace took from the Germans old boats and left them in position to build new boats very cheaply. Before the war it was German policy to subsidize the merchant marine. With continuation of the old policy, German competition is much to be feared.

As sugar goes up the general esteem in which the sugar speculators are held goes down.

New York tailors have decided that a man may dress modestly but acceptably on $462 a year. Some have been known to do it for 1898.

A gypsy blessed $200 in the hands of a trusting mortal, and after that he had but $140. Well, a good blessing ought to be worth $60.

Typical wild west robberies continue to be staged in the streets of New York. All the fault of the movies, of course.

There is no accounting for beliefs. It is possible the Herrin jury believes its verdict in accord with law and facts.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Creators of fashion often express their foolishness in the styles they put out, but when they talk, they make even a worse showing for themselves. Here's a mess of tailors, for example, telling what men shall wear. They say that for the modest sum of $4662 a man may provide himself decent raiment for all ordinary occasions. Of suits he must have fourteen, with as many hats and pairs of shoes.

Now, to make a suit that sets well, really requires sense. The tailor who devotes himself to this worthy mission, wins respect. But the tailor who declares, in effect, that at less than $4662 a year, a man cannot be well dressed, loses all he has won.

Probably not one man in a thousand has a yearly income equal to the sum mentioned. Not one in ten thousand wants suits by the dozen. The ordinary citizen has a suit or two for business, one for social occasions, one for roughing. He wants no more. As for hats, he clings to his old one as long as he can. If he has arrived at years of discretion, the male never discards his lid because instructed to do so, by the presumptuous combination engaged in springing fads on the public. The one exception is, that he tosses his straw away long before he should do so, and refrains from donning it until given permission. This shows that he has a weak spot in his mind, although as a rule, he is sensible in dressing. He gets a coat he likes, and it is a good coat until so shiny at the elbows that his wife bestows it on a tramp. And while he wears this coat, the man does not care whether it is favored by the sartorial Hoyle or not.

Plaintiff in a recent divorce based the action on her husband's devotion to the trombone. The list of morally innocuous correspondents grows. Men have been sued by reason of their attentions to golf, to the radio, to aviation, or the automobile.

That a wife is neglected when the affections of her husband are diverted to a trombone will be conceded, although the course of the faithless man might have been worse. Supposing that he had been lured from the path of duty by a saxophone!

Colonists lured to Russia from the United States are beginning to straggle back. They had taken money with them, but been deftly parted from it by soviet strategy. They had to get home through charity. In Russia they would have starved.

It is said that Bill Hayward, over-due at an American penitentiary, is engineering the scheme from his haven under the wing of Lenin. Perhaps this is an error. It would not be like Bill merely to take the money, and leave the victims their clothes.

The allegation is made that a man thought himself haunted by the ghost of his wife, who appeared nightly by airplane. So he got a new wife, forty years his junior, who is understood to have promised to exorcise the wraith of No. 1. The husband will his estate to No. 2 and passed on, presumably to rejoin the ghost.

An effort is being made to have the bill broken. Much must depend upon whether the exorcism was complete according to contract. If so perhaps it was worth the money.

Texas oil stock promoters are said to have filched $100,000,000 from the public in the last five years.

There's one of 'em born every minute, of course, but they do not all need to go to Texas.

Helicopter records are being bettered. On a recent trial the machine went straight up twenty feet, and remained in the air two minutes. One great problem of aviation is the "take off." Much space is needed for a start in flight. The helicopter is designed to overcome this difficulty, and evidently will do so before very long.

The receipt of an anonymous letter is acknowledged, which act is a courtesy far from usual. There is nothing objectionable in the letter. Its only sin is that of omission, and the signature is the thing omitted.

It is pleasing to get letters from critics friendly or otherwise. No man ought to write any letter he is ashamed to sign, and if he sends the letter without signing, the usual and proper course at the other end is to ignore it.

It was unfortunate that the French should have discovered the Germans in the act of manufacturing submarine motors; that is, it was unfortunate for the Germans. The discovery tends to shake such faith as may have existed in the German intent to abide by the treaty. It gives France additional grounds for suspicion, and furnishes a new excuse for retention of French troops in the Ruhr.

Brig. General Sawyer accompanies the President in the south, being Mr. Harding's personal physician. He is a general by courtesy only, and the courtesy is rather needless in this instance.

If the President is to have a personal doctor, the government ought to pay the doctor for that, which he is, not for what he isn't. It would be a simple matter to give the doctor the pay of a brigadier without perpetration of the official bluff that he is a brigadier.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

I have just been a looker-on at a most interesting sight. I saw a man get a job. The man who gave him the job had turned down four other applicants. The man who got the job was no better to my eyes than the four who did not.

"How come?" I asked. "Why?"

"I don't know," said Timmy Knowles, who does the hiring and firing. "I don't know. I'll have to work that out."

I've had business with Timmy, off and on, which is why I happened to be in at the death, so to speak. Timmy sits at a large, polished desk, with a glass top on it. He is smiling, impenetrable, courteous, maybe a little hard. He has an aura of resistance, if you get me. Until you get acquainted with the Timmy who underlies Mr. Knowles you feel that he is unsympathetic in his contacts. He is apt, you think, to regard you as a piece of machinery.

"Now buzz," is his unexpressed invitation to each applicant for work. "Buzz hard. If you do not buzz fast enough you're through."

The five were agreeable, keen-eyed and alert, and they were well dressed. Timmy gave the first four the gat without a moment's hesitation. The fifth he took almost at sight.

"I think it must be because the four were not at ease," said Timmy, reflectively. "They were nervous and restless. They did not make me feel that they were self-reliant, competent, firm-set men. Instead of making me think that I wanted them, they made it evident that they wanted the job. That fifth guy was different. He had an air of prosperity and decision. I wanted him more than he wanted the job."

Then he told me something else.

"I walked past this door seven days on end," said he, "before I felt inside me that confidence; that certainty of myself, that swelling surety that I was the best there is, which is the capital of a job-hunter. Then I came in and asked for work."

Do you know that?

FARRELL GIVES GIANTS HIGH RANK

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 11.—(United Press).—To win the 1923 National league pennant and their third championship in successive years, the New York Giants will have to beat two very formidable rivals in the Cincinnati Reds and the Pittsburgh Pirates and a third threat in the St. Louis Cardinals.

Perhaps it is not a question so much of what the Giants will do as it is what the results Pat Moran, Bill McKechnie and Branch Rickey get out of their material.

The stability and balance of the Giants over the long April to October route is well known by recalling their 1922 performance when only once, during the week of July 22, did they relinquish their hold on first place after they slumped around the first week in getting started.

It might be argued that the Giants are no stronger this spring than they were last April, but it cannot be denied that they are no weaker.

If Jimmy O'Connell lives up to his $75,000 price tag in centerfield, the Giants will be much stronger. If he fails the club will be no weaker, because McGraw has Stengel and Cunningham in reserve.

and they filled the bill acceptably last year.

Another big factor in considering the strength of the team centers around the legs of Henrie Groh, but even if the under-pinning of the little-third baseman goes bad on him again, McGraw would not be in desperate circumstances, because he is well fortified with reserve material that has been tried out in actual combat.

Much, of course, depends on the pitching staff, but after the stunt that McGraw pulled last year in winning the pennant with a staff of perfect misfits, it is no exaggeration to predict that the Giants' leadership can get along with any kind of pitching.

If the Giants' hurlers do not improve this summer, it is almost impossible for them to be more reliable than they were last year. Chances, however, are that McGraw will not have the worries he staggered under last season.

The Giants' leader has many gambles among his hurlers, the most advertised of which is Jack Bentley, for whom the Giants gave Baltimore $35,000. If Bentley delivers, McGraw will have the best left-handed pair of workers in the league, with the possible exception of the Bentley-Rickey Cincinnati combination.

Looking over the other pitchers, it would seem that Neff ought to improve, if he is not worked so much. Scott should be a big help, if he stays in condition and works all season as well as he did in the dying days of the last pennant race.

McQuillan is an uncertainty, with the potential qualities of a twenty-game pitcher. The Barnes brothers are hard to figure, but they have to improve, if there is any change in them. In young Jonnard, McGraw has placed great hope. He has had promise all along and it seems this spring he has arrived. McGraw also is very optimistic about two rookie pitchers, Webb and Walberg, and the Colgate College hurler, Blume, might deliver.

All in all, it looks that the Giants' staff, if it is no better is not worse than it was last year.

Tom was not a typical British workman. He was in the habit of coming home after too many drinks, quarrelling with his wife, and upsetting the neighborhood. One Monday morning the woman next door leaned over the garden wall and, addressing his wife, said: "Mrs. Brown, you don't know how to treat your husband. It's no use talking to a man when he's drunk. Take my advice: Get him off to bed without argument, and tell him what you think when he's sober."

The next Saturday night Mrs. Brown, hearing the usual bang on the door, opened it, and promptly followed the advice of her neighbor.

"Oh, Tom!" she said, sympathetically, "you do look cold; hurry in to the fire." When he got inside she removed his shoes. "There! That's more comfortable isn't it? Now, would you like a drink?"

"Aye," replied Tom, "if you'll have one with me."

They had their drink, whereupon, remembering her neighbor's advice, Mrs. Brown said: "Now, Tom, lad, you are tired. Go to bed and have a good night's rest. You'll feel better in the morning."

And Tom replied: "I might as well. If I go home I shall only have a row with the missus."

PIAZZA RUGS

In anticipation of summer very attractive piazza rugs are displayed. They are not unlike rug in appearance, but are made of braided straw in extremely pretty designs and colors. Flat hassocks as well as slightly larger ones with wooden legs match the rugs.

CANADA IS SOUND SAYS BABSON

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., April 11.—Roger W. Babson has today returned from his annual inspection trip, reports of which have appeared in this paper from week to week. In reviewing the trip in general, Mr. Babson stated that if anything, business is becoming too rapidly active in the United States.

"Everywhere people are talking prosperity, building is booming, prices are again advancing and wages are rising," says the Statistician. "A little of this is a good thing, but too much of it all at once is dangerous. When a patient recovers too rapidly, a relapse may occur. The business men of the United States need to remember the warning of that old capitalist and philosopher—King Solomon—who cautioned the business men of Jerusalem that 'pride goeth before destruction and a haughty spirit before a fall.' Personally, I much prefer the more gradual and deliberate manner by which Canada is passing through her readjustment. We have much to learn from our northern neighbor. Today conditions are better in the States; but unless we take care, business will be better in Canada in 1924 than it will be here."

"I spent some two weeks of my trip studying Canadian conditions," continued Mr. Babson, "and was very much pleased with what I found. Various factors suggest that the Dominion stands in about the same position in the economic cycle occupied by the United States six or eight months ago. If this is so, we must look for Canadian business to improve rapidly during 1923. The farming situation is better and more favorable conditions prevail in the north woods owing to the state of the fur market and the plentifulty of furred animals. British Columbia is in a more prosperous condition than the prairies. Its farmers did fairly well last year and the fruit-growing sections had very profitable yields. Lumber demand is expected to be developed to considerable proportions. Even in the mining towns I look for a fair improvement. In British Columbia business during the spring months should be good."

"Canadian sales efforts during the next few months should be concentrated on the eastern provinces. The industrial communities of Ontario and Quebec look relatively the best, and even in the agricultural sections conditions are more favorable than on the prairies. Mixed farming helped to lighten the load of the eastern farmer. Industrial activity in Canada is estimated to be in the vicinity of 70 per cent of capacity. Unemployment and short time are still prevalent in some lines. Gold mining is an outstanding exception. This line is fairly busy and is resulting in considerable prosperity in such centers as Porcupine and Kirkland Lake, Ontario.

"Industries manufacturing goods for human consumption and covering are perhaps most active and have the most encouraging outlook. The best customers will be found in the cities. I have in mind all of the manufacturing centers of southern Ontario and Quebec, but especially those producing pulp, boots and shoes, textiles, clothing and food products. In the maritime provinces a firm foundation is being built up for business improvement. Basic industries are now dull, but I believe that warmer weather will bring decidedly better markets for lumber, fish and other local products. By summer, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia should look nearly as attractive to sales representatives as southern Ontario and Quebec.

"A more hopeful feeling is developing, however, in the prairie and other agricultural regions. Better prices for farm products are helping the Canadians as well as the farmers in the States. As the Canadian farmer was slower in feeling the good effects of this increase in prices of farm products, so he will enjoy it longer. It seems to be a fundamental principle of economics that the Dominion lags about a year behind the States both as to action and reaction—decline and recovery. Hence, I say that while today conditions are better in the States, they may be better in Canada next year. Business conditions are much like a storm—they travel across the country in waves. Each section gets the storm, but all do not get it at the same time. We should be better neighbors to Canada. Some day we must turn to her for natural resources. When our timber is gone, when our water power is developed, when the price of land here makes the raising of cattle prohibitive, we must turn to Canada. Besides, the boundary line between the two countries was never made by God—it was made by man. Hence, let us not erect unnecessary tariff walls or other barriers. Let us remember that in the long run the prosperity of both countries is bound up together. For either to prosper both must prosper. We each need the other. Let us be Christians in legislation as well as in name.

"The Babson chart continues to register the slight inflation to which I still stands at 5 per cent above normal. When the readjustment of the price level is completed, this is not a healthy sign. It is dangerous to raise prices or wages at the present time. Let us have prosperity, but let us not have inflation. Things that have recently occurred in the stock market, the spirit of the bootleggers, and the general desire of almost everyone to get something for nothing are not healthy signs here in the States. We need more character and less speculation at the moment. It, of course, is true that men make values," concluded Mr. Babson, "but let us not forget that souls make men."

MILLIONS of FAMILIES

"I will build a car for the multitude"

Said Henry Ford in 1903—Read how the fulfillment of that prophecy is now made possible through the

Ford Weekly Purchase Plan

For many years it has been Henry Ford's personal ambition to make the Ford the universal family car—to put it within the reach of the millions of people who have never been privileged to enjoy the benefits of motor car ownership.

During the past fifteen years over 7,500,000 Ford cars have been placed in the hands of retail customers—more than a million and half of them within the past twelve months—and yet there are still millions of families who are hopefully looking forward to the day when they can own a Ford.

And now the way is open.

Under the terms of this plan you can select your Ford Car, set aside a small amount each week and you will be surprised how soon you will own it. In the meantime your money will be safely deposited to your credit in one of the local banks where it will draw interest.

Think it over. Five dollars will start an account. The whole family can participate in it—father, mother, brothers and sisters each doing a little.

Why not start today. Stop in and talk it over with your local Ford dealer. He will be glad to fully explain the details of the plan and help you to get started toward the ownership of a Ford car.

TRACK AND FIELD MEET

AT W. S. C. ON JUNE 2
The biggest athletic classic in the history of the northwest, the Pacific Coast Conference joint track and field meet, in which teams from 12 colleges and universities in California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana will compete, will be held on Rogers Field, State College of Washington, June 2, instead of May 26 as at first announced. The shift was made to permit California to again enter her team in the eastern competition at Philadelphia, where she has for two years won laurels. The annual intercollegiate at W. S. C. is to be held May 4 and 5.

Teams from the nine universities of Southern California, Stanford, California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Willamette and Pacific, and the colleges of Whitman, Oregon Agricultural and Washington State, will include many stars of national and even international fame. Charles Paddock, who has won title as "the world's fastest human being" because of the many globe records he has broken, is said to be sprinting faster than ever this year. He will undoubtedly draw big crowds of those who enjoy seeing pretty track work, especially as this first appearance of his in the northwest will probably be his last, since after this year he will be ineligible for collegiate competition.

Rogers Field has the best track facilities of any athletic field in either of the western continents. The third-of-a-mile track is wider than any of the other tracks, and as fast, with the 220-yard straightaway has room for 10 runners abreast. That permits the sprints to be run in three heats—two preliminary and the final.

The change in date assures good weather from Spokane, Portland and southern and eastern points, and fine weather for the event. Preparations are being made to house and care for the biggest crowd in the history of the college.

The more some people get the more they want—except when they are handed a sentence in the police court.

to the official line and grade. Said curbs shall be constructed in accordance with Plan No. 628, Profiles Nos. 879 and 880, and Specifications for said work adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and known as Specifications No. 26.

Fifth: That a cement gutter be constructed along each line of the roadway of Ard Even Avenue from the westerly extension of the northerly line of Glenview Road and parallel to the northerly line of Lot 2 of said Hunter's Subdivision; also along each line of the roadway of Ben Lomond Drive from a line drawn eight (8) feet southerly from and parallel to the northerly line of Glenview Road and its westerly extension to the northerly line of Lot 2 of said Hunter's Subdivision. Said gutters shall be two (2) feet in width and five (5) inches in thickness. Also that a gutter five (5) inches thick be constructed along the curbs to be constructed and in place at the northerly and northerly corners of Glenview Road and Ben Lomond Drive as shown on Plan No. 628, Profiles Nos. 879 and 880, and Specifications for said work adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and known as Specifications No. 26.

Sixth: That all of the roadway of Ard Even Avenue between gutter lines drawn eight (8) feet southerly from and parallel to the northerly line of Glenview Road and its westerly extension to the northerly line of Lot 2 of said Hunter's Subdivision; also that all of the roadway of Ben Lomond Drive between gutter lines drawn eight (8) feet southerly from and parallel to the northerly line of Lot 2 of said Hunter's Subdivision, including all intersections and terminations of streets and alleys, be paved with an oil macadam pavement five (5) inches in thickness in accordance with Plan No. 628, Profiles Nos. 879 and 880, and Specifications for said work adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and known as Specifications No. 26.

SEVENTH: That said contemplated work and improvement in the opinion of said Council is of more than local or ordinary public benefit and will affect and benefit the lands and district hereinafter described, and said Council hereby declares said work and improvement to be a public work and to be assessed to pay the costs and expenses thereof, in all that portion of said City included within the following exterior boundary lines, to-wit:

Beginning at a point in the westerly line of Lot 13, Tract No. 1678, as per map recorded in Book 20, Page 44, of Maps, Records of Los Angeles County, California, where said westerly line is intersected by the westerly extension of the northerly line of Glenview Road; thence northerly along the westerly line of said Lot 13 to the northerly line of said Lot 13 and 14, of Maps, Records of Los Angeles County, California, where said westerly line is intersected by the westerly extension of the northerly line of Glenview Road; thence easterly along said line to an intersection with the northerly line of Lot 2 of said Hunter's Subdivision; thence easterly along the northerly line of Lot 2 of said Hunter's Subdivision to the intersection with a line drawn one hundred and sixty (160) feet easterly from and parallel to the easterly line of Ard Even Avenue and its northerly and westerly extensions; thence southerly along said line to an intersection with the southerly line of Glenview Road; thence westerly along the southerly line of Glenview Road and its westerly extension crossing Ard Even Avenue and Ben Lomond Drive to the point of beginning, excepting therefrom any portion of any public street or alley which may be included therein. Reference is hereby made to Map No. 628-A, approved by the Council of the City of Glendale and now on file in the office of the City Engineer, which indicates by a red boundary line the extent of the territory to be included in said assessment district, and which shall govern for all details as to the extent of said assessment district.

SECTION 3. That pursuant to the Act of the Legislature of the State of California, approved February 27, 1930, and the acts amendatory thereto, serial bonds bearing interest at the rate of 7 per cent per annum shall be issued to represent assessments of Twenty-five ($25.00) Dollars or over for the costs of said work or improvement; said serial bonds shall extend over a period ending nine (9) years from and after the second day of January next succeeding the date of said bonds, and an even annual proportion of the principal sum thereof shall be payable by coupon on the second day of January, every year after their date, until the whole is paid; and the interest shall be payable semi-annually by coupon on the second day of January and July, respectively, each year, at the rate of 7 per cent per annum on all sums unpaid until the whole of said principal and interest is paid.

SECTION 4. The City Engineer is directed to make a diagram of the property affected or benefited by the proposed work or improvement as described herein, and to be assessed to pay the costs and expenses thereof. Such diagram shall show each separate lot, piece or parcel of land, the area in square feet of each of such lots, piece or parcel of land, and the relative location of the same to the work proposed to be done, all within the limits of the assessment district.

SECTION 5. All Maps, Cross-sections, Plans and Profiles referred to herein are on file in the office of the City Engineer of said City. All specifications referred to herein are on file in the office of the City Clerk of said City. This Resolution of Intention shall be published in the manner and by the persons required by law, and in which the Street Superintendent shall publish notice of the passage of this Resolution of Intention.

SEVENTH: That the Street Superintendent of said City of Glendale is hereby directed to post notices of the passage of this Resolution of Intention in the manner and by the persons required by law, and in which the Street Superintendent shall publish notice of the passage of this Resolution of Intention.

SEVENTH: That the Street Superintendent of said City of Glendale is hereby directed to post this Resolution of Intention conspicuously for two days on or near the chamber floor of the said Council and to cause the same to be published by two insertions in the manner required by law, and to cause a similar notice to be published by two insertions in said newspaper in the manner required by law.

SEVENTH: That the City Clerk of said City of Glendale is hereby directed to post this Resolution of Intention conspicuously for two days on or near the chamber floor of the said Council and to cause the same to be published by two insertions in the manner required by law, and to cause a similar notice to be published by two insertions in said newspaper in the manner required by law.

THE PLACE OF TAIR

Aboutir's camel trod the sands
Where all was hot and dry,
Far from the green and fertile lands,
The sun was hot and high,
And through the day he kept his pace,
And at the hour of prayer
He bowed his head and asked for grace
To reach the Place of Tair.

Aboutir's slave was worn and spent,
His skin was brown and old,
His back from many burdens bent,
And where the desert rolled
Its shifting sands with shaded eyes
He looked: "Pray, Master, where?"
He said, "Beneath these scorching skies
May lie the Place of Tair."

Aboutir smiled, a kindly smile,
And pointed o'er the sands,
And said: "Full many a weary mile
Away are fertile lands,
With dates and palms and shaded groves
And flowers and fragrant air,
And there by day the fancy roves
And at the hour of prayer."

"And o'er the desert day by day
Where hot and dry the sands,
Men struggle while their camels sway,
And dream of fertile lands,
Of dates and palms and shaded ways
And flowers and fragrant air,
Through desert sand and scorching days
They seek the Place of Tair."

So Master and the Slave, they went
Where sands were hot and dry,
And sometimes strong, and sometimes spent,
And suns now low, now high,
And at the dawn on desert sands,
And at the hour of prayer
They dreamed of cool and flowered lands,
And prayed they might reach Tair.

FARMERS MILLIONAIRES?

That farmers are millionaires — in nitrogen, not gold — was pointed out by Dr. Paul W. Allen, bacteriologist, in a radio lecture over K F A E, State College of Washington, the other night.

"The big task is to make all farmers realize this great wealth is theirs," said Dr. Allen. "Every farmer who owns an acre of land is a multimillionaire and can draw on a certain amount of this great wealth annually if he desires. Many farmers will, this spring and summer. Are you getting your share?"

"The nitrogen over an acre of land weighs 70,000,000 pounds. At 15 cents a pound, a fair market price, as it is sold in fertilizers, this nitrogen is worth a little over $10,000,000. Are you getting your fair share of this atmospheric nitrogen? When sold in the form of

"If you are willing to get acquainted with the details, you can use this nitrogen in crop production. Many farmers are experts in this, selling the result from 40 cents to $1 a pound. Legumes are the only crops which make this possible: alfalfa, clover, peas, beans, vetch, and that sort. These gather the nitrogen from the air and store it in their roots, leaves and seeds when certain conditions are fulfilled. That is, there must be at their roots tiny nitrogen-fixing bacteria. If you do not give the plants these bacteria, they will act like bacteria on the seed at planting any other crops, and impoverish the soil instead of enriching it. The one safe method is to put the
